DOCTOR OF MINISTRY in CHURCH PLANTING

RIC THORPE BISHOP OF ISLINGTON, DIOCESE OF LONDON, ENGLAND. 2020 D.MIN. GRADUATE

ABOUT THE CHURCH PLANTING COHORT

A Doctor of Ministry in Church Planting will help you develop a biblical-theological framework as well as essential capacities and strategies to plant vibrant, culturally-relevant reproducing communities of faith. Within this cohort, you'll experience field-based learning, enjoy extended sessions with nationally/globally-recognized church planting movement leaders, and develop support networks in your own local regions and denominations.

AS YOU COMPLETE YOUR DEGREE, YOU WILL

- Enter into a space that invites reflection and conversation.
- Engage in robust academics, research and writing.
- Experience meaningful, vibrant, spiritually formed relationships.
- Explore relevant and adaptive ministry perspectives and practices.
- Enhance local/global ministry capacities.

THE DOCTOR OF MINISTRY PROGRAM

During your courses, you'll enjoy the rigor and formative nature of topics such as biblical interpretation, spirituality of the leader, theology of ministry, and the missional heart of God. In addition, you'll also interact with faculty and guest lecturers whose expertise is in the fields of Church Planting and Networking, including: Carolyn Moore, losmar Alvarez, Jay Moon, Bryan Collier and others!

"In the end, I realized that the D.Min. and my burning questions were a perfect fit. That is exactly what it's designed for. It's designed to take your questions, and give you space and resources to answer it, so that you can then pour that back into your ministry, but also serve the local church."
